■ Terzo trimestre 2023

Nel terzo trimestre l'economia statunitense ha registrato una buona performance, mentre nell'Eurozona e in Cina il clima ha continuato a essere deludente. Nella maggior parte dei paesi, l'inflazione ha continuato a scendere, pur rimanendo troppo alta a giudizio delle banche centrali. Le grandi banche centrali delle economie avanzate hanno continuato ad aumentare i tassi di riferimento, ma a un ritmo più lento rispetto ai trimestri precedenti. In ogni caso, alcune banche centrali delle economie emergenti hanno iniziato a ridurre i tassi. Sui mercati, i rendimenti obbligazionari sono saliti e le azioni sono scese.

Stati Uniti

Nonostante il forte aumento dei tassi di interesse, l'economia statunitense si è rivelata più forte del previsto. Molti osservatori hanno ridimensionato o attenuato le loro previsioni di recessione. Le cause di questa buona resistenza sono state, tra gli altri fattori, l'ampio risparmio delle famiglie e le misure pubbliche a sostegno degli investimenti. Le revisioni dei dati di agosto e settembre hanno quindi confermato che la crescita del PIL è rimasta forte nel secondo trimestre, con un tasso annualizzato del 2.1%. Allo stesso modo, gli indicatori ISM di settembre hanno segnalato una solida attività nel settore dei servizi e un'attenuazione della contrazione nell'industria. È stata registrata una forte creazione di posti di lavoro, anche se in rallentamento, con un leggero aumento del tasso di disoccupazione (3.8% ad agosto rispetto al 3.6% di giugno). L'indice generale dell'inflazione ha subito una nuova accelerazione (3.7% ad agosto rispetto al 3.0% di giugno), soprattutto a causa dell'aumento dei prezzi dei carburanti, ma l'indice sottostante ha continuato a rallentare, attestandosi sul 4.3% ad agosto rispetto al 4.8% di giugno. La Fed ha alzato i tassi sui Fed Funds di 25 punti base a luglio (sostenendone il range del 5.25 - 5.50%) ma li ha mantenuti invariati a settembre, lasciando aperta la porta a possibili ulteriori rialzi.

Eurozona

L'attività economica dell'Eurozona è stata deludente. I dati sulla crescita del secondo trimestre sono stati quasi stagnanti - un aumento del PIL dello 0.1% - dopo la battuta d'arresto già registrata nel primo trimestre. Mentre i Paesi più esposti ai servizi (Francia e Spagna) hanno mantenuto un ritmo leggermente positivo, quelli in cui l'industria è più importante hanno registrato una crescita quasi nulla (Germania) o negativa (Italia). I sondaggi sull'attività del terzo trimestre (in particolare gli indici PMI) hanno mostrato che il deterioramento già osservato nell'industria tende a estendersi ai servizi. Tuttavia, nonostante alcuni segnali di rallentamento, il mercato del lavoro è rimasto solido, con il tasso di disoccupazione al 6.4% in agosto, il livello più basso dalla creazione dell'Eurozona. Nel complesso, l'inflazione è diminuita. A settembre l'aumento del tasso generale su 12 mesi è tornato al 4.3% (rispetto al 5.5% di giugno), con l'indice sottostante al 4.5% (contro il 5.5%). La Banca centrale europea ha aumentato i tassi di riferimento di 25 punti base a luglio e di nuovo a settembre, portando il tasso di deposito al 4.00%. Ciononostante, non ha indicato la probabilità di ulteriori rialzi, riaffermando la fiducia nell'attuale livello dei tassi per far scendere ulteriormente l'inflazione.

Mercati Emergenti

I dati del terzo trimestre provenienti dalla Cina hanno nuovamente evidenziato la debolezza del settore immobiliare, così come di altri settori, mentre i promotori immobiliari hanno incontrato difficoltà nell'indebitamento. Tuttavia, i dati pubblicati ad agosto hanno superato le aspettative, suggerendo che il peggio era ormai passato nel terzo trimestre. Tuttavia, nonostante le previsioni di una graduale ripresa ciclica, la Cina sta registrando un rallentamento secolare già da diversi anni. Il fattore principale all'origine di questo rallentamento è stato, e continua ad essere, il settore immobiliare. I poteri statali hanno risposto con una serie di misure politiche, che però non sono state sufficienti a rilanciare rapidamente la crescita. La priorità rimane la transizione a lungo termine verso un modello di crescita meno incentrato sull'edilizia e sulle esportazioni. Nella maggior parte dei Paesi emergenti lo slancio macroeconomico rimane debole, anche se in rialzo. In effetti, le esportazioni sembrano aver raggiunto il loro punto più basso. Ciononostante, a causa dell'indebolimento degli effetti base, dell'aumento dei prezzi dei prodotti alimentari ed energetici e della pressione sui cambi, il processo di riduzione dell'inflazione ha subito un rallentamento e ha inciso sul potere d'acquisto delle famiglie. Ciò nonostante le banche centrali, a parte alcuni casi atipici (Turchia, Russia e Thailandia, ad esempio), hanno iniziato e proseguito l'allentamento monetario abbassando i tassi. Tuttavia, molti hanno adottato una prospettiva più cauta in seguito alle dichiarazioni della Fed e alla possibilità che la stessa mantenga i tassi alti più a lungo. Tra gli altri eventi significativi di questo trimestre, i Paesi BRICS hanno aperto le porte all'ammissione di sei nuovi membri (Argentina, Egitto, Iran, Etiopia, Arabia Saudita ed Emirati Arabi Uniti) e l'India è stata inclusa nell'indice EMGBI.

Azioni

Le scorte sono state contenute nel terzo trimestre. Nonostante il buon andamento dei risultati aziendali, il tono aggressivo delle banche centrali ha portato a un forte aumento dei tassi a lungo termine, che a sua volta ha innescato una correzione dei mercati azionari. Il tasso decennale statunitense è salito di quasi 75 punti base in questo trimestre. L'MSCI World AC è calato del 2.9%. A livello regionale, gli Stati Uniti (-3.4%) hanno sottoperformato l'Europa (-2.5%). Nell'Eurozona (-4.6%), l'Italia (+0.6%) ha sovraperformato di gran lunga i suoi vicini. Il resto degli Stati membri è in rosso in questo trimestre, con il Portogallo (-6.1%) e i Paesi Bassi (-11.5%) in coda. Al di fuori dell'Eurozona, il mercato del Regno Unito è cresciuto dell'1.3%. La Svezia (-5.1%) e la Svizzera (-3.3%) hanno chiuso il trimestre in territorio negativo. Il Giappone (+0.8%) in valuta locale continua a beneficiare del calo dello yen e della tenuta della sua economia. Infine, l'indice MSCI Emerging Markets è sceso del 2.2%, trainato dalla sottoperformance del mercato cinese, in calo del 3%. A livello settoriale europeo, il settore dell'energia è in testa (+14.1%), seguito dal settore immobiliare, in crescita del 7.9% e dal settore bancario, in aumento del 4.1%. I beni di consumo ciclici e l'informatica sono stati i settori che hanno registrato le maggiori perdite in questo trimestre, con un calo rispettivamente dell'11.5% e del 10.7%. I cosiddetti titoli value (+1.8%) stanno sovraperformando i titoli growth (-6.5%).

Indici

I rendimenti obbligazionari sono aumentati significativamente nel terzo trimestre. Il rendimento del Bund tedesco a 10 anni è salito di oltre 42 punti base, attestandosi sul 2.81%. Il rendimento delle obbligazioni decennali statunitensi è salito di 76 punti base, chiudendo il trimestre al 4.57%. I rendimenti obbligazionari stanno tornando ai livelli precedenti alla crisi finanziaria, segno del cambiamento del regime macrofinanziario. L'economia statunitense ha sorpreso gli osservatori per la sua resistenza. La crescita rimane solida e la probabilità di un atterraggio morbido diventa sempre più plausibile. La Fed ha elevato i tassi di riferimento al 5.5%. Il ciclo di stretta monetaria dovrebbe giungere al termine, ma Jerome Powell (presidente della Federal Reserve) ha indicato che è probabile che i tassi di riferimento si mantengano elevati per un periodo prolungato. Da parte sua, la BCE si trova di fronte al dilemma di un'inflazione elevata contro il rapido deterioramento delle prospettive di crescita nell'Eurozona. Ha incrementato i tassi di interesse sui depositi al 4% e si prevede che li manterrà invariati per un periodo prolungato. La battaglia per riportare l'inflazione all'obiettivo del 2% sarà lunga e richiederà il mantenimento di una politica monetaria restrittiva.

■ Quarto trimestre 2023

L'attività economica è rimasta robusta nel quarto trimestre, anche se in rallentamento negli Stati Uniti e deludente nell'Eurozona. La crescita nella maggior parte delle economie emergenti si è attenuata, pur rimanendo forte. L'inflazione ha continuato a scendere nella maggior parte dei Paesi. La Federal Reserve statunitense e la Banca Centrale Europea hanno indicato che stanno per terminare il ciclo di incremento dei tassi di riferimento, mentre diverse banche centrali delle economie emergenti hanno abbassato i propri. Sui mercati, i rendimenti obbligazionari sono aumentati e le azioni sono calate in ottobre, una tendenza che si è invertita in novembre e dicembre, tanto che alla fine dell'anno i rendimenti obbligazionari erano più bassi rispetto all'inizio del trimestre, mentre le azioni erano in netto aumento, con diversi indici che hanno addirittura raggiunto i massimi storici.

Stati Uniti

Nonostante l'economia americana abbia continuato a mostrare una sorprendente resistenza al forte aumento dei tassi di interesse, la tendenza si è comunque indirizzata verso un rallentamento. I dati sulla crescita del terzo trimestre pubblicati nel quarto trimestre hanno mostrato un'attività molto sostenuta (crescita del PIL del 4.9% a tasso annualizzato secondo la revisione di dicembre). Tuttavia, i dati più recenti sul mercato del lavoro hanno mostrato che l'andamento potrebbe iniziare ad esaurirsi, per cui, nonostante la creazione di posti di lavoro sia ancora notevole (quasi 180,000 al mese in media nel quarto trimestre), il tasso di disoccupazione si è stabilizzato sul 3.7% a dicembre, rispetto al 3.4% del minimo storico di aprile. Altri dati mensili, come quelli relativi alle vendite al dettaglio, agli ordini di beni durevoli e alla produzione industriale, segnalano che la crescita del quarto trimestre sarà probabilmente molto più debole di quella del terzo. D'altra parte, l'inflazione, pur essendo al di sopra dell'obiettivo del 2% fissato dalla Fed, è chiaramente diminuita. A novembre, l'aumento su 12 mesi dell'indice generale dei prezzi è stato solo del 3.1%, rispetto al 3.7% di agosto, con l'indice sottostante al 4.0%, rispetto al 4.3%. La Federal Reserve non ha modificato i tassi di riferimento dopo averli aumentati a luglio. Ha dichiarato di essere soddisfatto del livello attuale degli stessi e che la possibilità di abbassarlo in futuro è ancora in discussione.

Eurozona

L'attività economica è rimasta particolarmente debole nell'Eurozona e l'aumento dei tassi di interesse ha contribuito ad aumentare le difficoltà specifiche del settore industriale. A fine novembre la revisione dei dati del PIL del terzo trimestre ha mostrato un leggerissimo calo dello 0.1% per l'intera regione, compresi moderati cali in Francia e Germania, un aumento trascurabile in Italia e un incremento leggermente maggiore in Spagna. Questa erosione fa parte della quasi-stagnazione osservata dall'inizio dell'anno. I dati relativi all'inizio del quarto trimestre non hanno evidenziato alcun miglioramento significativo. Il mercato del lavoro, tuttavia, continua a essere in una situazione relativamente buona, con un tasso di disoccupazione che a ottobre si è attestato sul 6.5%, il più basso dalla creazione dell'Eurozona. Le buone notizie sono arrivate dall'inflazione, con un rallentamento del ritmo di aumento dell'indice generale dei prezzi, che a dicembre ha raggiunto il 2.9% su 12 mesi (dopo essere stato al 4.4% a settembre) e un rallentamento dell'indice sottostante al 3.4% (precedentemente al 4.5%). La Banca Centrale Europea non ha modificato i tassi di riferimento dopo averli aumentati a settembre. Dopo la riunione del comitato di politica monetaria di dicembre, la Commissione ha nuovamente dichiarato di essere fiduciosa che l'attuale livello dei tassi sia in grado di ridurre ulteriormente l'inflazione, indicando al contempo che qualsiasi discussione su eventuali tagli dei tassi è prematura.

Mercati Emergenti

Nel quarto trimestre la Cina ha continuato a sviluppare con prudenza le proprie politiche economiche, in un contesto di ripresa molto disomogenea. La spesa pubblica per le infrastrutture è stata incrementata, ma i consumi sono rallentati e l'inflazione si è posizionata in territorio negativo. In Brasile la crescita dell'inflazione ha continuato a rallentare, mentre in India i consumi sono stati più robusti degli investimenti. Nel complesso, nelle economie emergenti, la domanda interna è rallentata e l'inflazione ha continuato a scendere, rimanendo nella maggior parte dei casi al di sotto dei valori indicati dalle banche centrali. Le banche centrali hanno continuato a ridurre i tassi. La banca centrale brasiliana ha proseguito con diversi tagli di 50 punti base, mentre la banca centrale cilena ha accelerato il ritmo con tagli di 75 punti base. Altre hanno aderito all'iniziativa, ad esempio le banche centrali della Colombia e della Repubblica Ceca. La posizione apparentemente più restrittiva della Federal Reserve statunitense ha ridotto la pressione sui tassi di cambio, che in precedenza aveva portato la banca centrale indonesiana ad aumentare i tassi e quella cilena a rallentare i tagli. Infine, in Argentina, il nuovo presidente Milei ha iniziato il suo mandato con una svalutazione del 50% del peso e un ambizioso piano di liberalizzazione dell'economia.

Azioni

In ottobre i mercati azionari hanno registrato un calo, ma sono rimbalzati fortemente grazie al taglio dei tassi a lungo termine. Nel corso del trimestre l'MSCI World AC è cresciuto del 9%. A livello regionale, gli Stati Uniti (+11.5%) hanno sovraperformato l'Europa (+5.3%). All'interno dell'Eurozona (+7.5%) i Paesi Bassi (+14.8%) e il Portogallo (+10.2%) hanno sovraperformato i loro vicini. Il resto degli Stati membri ha registrato numeri verdi con Francia (+5.6%) e Spagna (+6.7%) in coda. Al di fuori dell'Eurozona, il mercato svedese emerge in testa (+12.2%), seguito dal mercato del Regno Unito (+1.6%) e dalla Svizzera (+1.3%). Il Giappone (+2.1%) in valuta locale continua a beneficiare del calo dello yen e della tenuta della sua economia. Infine, l'indice MSCI Emerging Markets è cresciuto del 5.2%, nonostante la sottoperformance del mercato cinese, in calo del 5%. A livello settoriale europeo, i titoli value (+3.4%) hanno sottoperformato i titoli growth (+7.2%). In testa il settore immobiliare (+22.6%) e quello IT (+18.3%), sensibile ai tassi d'interesse. I settori dell'energia (-2.6%) e dei beni di consumo di base sono stati gli unici a chiudere il trimestre in territorio negativo.

Indici

I mercati dei tassi di interesse sono stati caratterizzati da un forte calo dei tassi su tutta la curva. Il tasso decennale statunitense ha chiuso l'anno quasi al 3.8% e il Bund decennale tedesco quasi al 2%. Il mercato si aspetta anche che la Fed e la BCE inizino una serie di tagli dei tassi a marzo. Questa rapida riduzione dei tassi è riconducibile a: 1) un calo dell'inflazione maggiore del previsto nelle economie sviluppate; 2) un cambiamento nel tono della Fed, che ora è tornata a considerare significativi i suoi due mandati, inflazione e occupazione. La Fed si sente rassicurata dal calo dell'inflazione, i membri del FOMC prestano ora particolare attenzione all'impatto dell'aumento dei tassi sulla crescita, con l'obiettivo di evitare un eccessivo rallentamento dell'attività. La Fed non vuole quindi frenare l'economia più a lungo del necessario; 3) la crescita economica che ha continuato a sorprendere al ribasso nell'Eurozona. Tuttavia, il mercato del lavoro nell'Eurozona è estremamente solido. I mercati ora si aspettano che l'inflazione torni rapidamente al 2% senza una recessione.

■ Primo trimestre 2024

Nel primo trimestre del 2024 l'attività economica è rimasta forte negli Stati Uniti, meno in Europa, anche se è leggermente migliorata rispetto all'ultimo trimestre del 2023. L'andamento è stato lievemente migliore anche nelle economie emergenti. L'inflazione ha continuato a scendere, anche se gradualmente. Sia la Federal Reserve statunitense che la Banca Centrale Europea (BCE) hanno dichiarato la loro intenzione di attendere ancora un po' prima di abbassare i tassi. A fine 2023, sui mercati, i rendimenti obbligazionari hanno registrato un rimbalzo, mentre le azioni hanno proseguito il loro buon momento.

Stati Uniti

L'economia statunitense ha continuato a dimostrare una notevole forza, nonostante numerosi osservatori si aspettassero che i rialzi dei tassi di riferimento del 2022 e 2023 avrebbero portato ad una recessione. A fine marzo, una terza stima ufficiale del PIL per il quarto trimestre 2023 ha evidenziato una crescita del 3.4% su base annua. Passando a dati più recenti, le cifre del mercato del lavoro hanno indicato la creazione di oltre 500,000 posti di lavoro netti in gennaio e febbraio, il che rappresenta un forte ritmo di accelerazione rispetto al quarto trimestre. Da parte loro, gli indicatori relativi al contesto economico dei settori industriali hanno segnalato un rallentamento del calo nei primi due mesi del trimestre, con il settore dei servizi in continuo miglioramento. L'inflazione ha continuato a scendere, anche se gradualmente. A febbraio, l'indice generale dei prezzi al consumo si è attestato sul 3.2% su 12 mesi, dopo aver raggiunto il 3.4% a dicembre, e l'indice sottostante si è attestato sul 3.8% rispetto al 3.9% precedente. All'inizio del trimestre il messaggio della Federal Reserve ha cercato di calmare le aspettative del mercato in merito ad una riduzione dei tassi di riferimento nel primo trimestre. Ha indicato che la prossima mossa sarebbe stata molto probabilmente una riduzione, ma che sarebbe avvenuta solo dopo ulteriori segnali di un rallentamento duraturo dell'inflazione.

Eurozona

Dopo una quasi stagnazione per tutto il 2023, nel primo trimestre sono apparsi alcuni deboli segnali di miglioramento. I dati del PIL del quarto trimestre hanno evidenziato una crescita zero. Sono stati leggermente negativi in Germania, leggermente positivi in Italia e Francia e più positivi in Spagna. Tuttavia, a marzo gli indici PMI sono saliti a un livello che denotava un'espansione dell'attività nel settore dei servizi, con una contrazione meno grave rispetto alla fine del 2023 nell'industria. Anche altri indicatori, come l'indice IFO del clima economico tedesco, hanno registrato un leggerissimo miglioramento. Allo stesso modo, il mercato del lavoro ha continuato a resistere alla crisi economica: a febbraio il tasso di disoccupazione è rimasto pari al 6.5%, il livello più basso dalla creazione dell'eurozona. L'inflazione ha continuato a rallentare, con l'indice dei prezzi al consumo a 12 mesi che è sceso al 2.6% a febbraio (dal 2.9% a dicembre) e l'indice sottostante che è sceso al 3.1% dal 3.4%. Come la Fed statunitense, la BCE ha cercato di dissipare le aspettative di una rapida riduzione dei tassi di riferimento. Il messaggio della riunione del comitato di politica monetaria del 7 marzo è stato ampiamente interpretato come un segnale di una prima riduzione a giugno.

Mercati Emergenti

La ripresa economica in Cina è stata moderata e persistono pressioni deflazionistiche. Le autorità cinesi hanno preferito abbassare i tassi d'interesse invece di usare gli strumenti di bilancio per ridurre il debito degli enti locali. Dall'inizio dell'anno, la crescita è migliorata nei Paesi emergenti, anche se è rimasta in terreno negativo nell'Europa centrale e orientale. A gennaio l'inflazione è scesa bruscamente nella maggior parte dei paesi, ma a febbraio sono emerse alcune sorprese positive e preoccupazioni sulle aspettative. Le valute dei paesi emergenti sono state estremamente volatili in attesa di una maggiore visibilità sulla politica monetaria statunitense, e anche le azioni non ne sono uscite indenni. Le banche centrali, la maggior parte delle quali aveva iniziato ad allentare la propria politica monetaria, hanno reagito ancora una volta rapidamente, rinunciando a ridurre i tassi a marzo e/o mantenendoli invariati. Ovviamente il contesto geopolitico continua a pesare sul sentimento degli investitori, particolarmente preoccupati per le possibili ripercussioni sull'inflazione globale.

Le cifre riportate nella presente relazione rivestono una valenza storica e non sono necessariamente indicative di analoghe performance future.

Indici

I tassi restano elevati e la volatilità rimane forte. Il rendimento del Bund tedesco a 10 anni ha superato il 2.3% e quello del bond statunitense a 10 anni il 4.3%. Due sono i fattori che continuano a guidare i mercati: l'andamento dell'inflazione e le dichiarazioni dei rappresentanti delle banche centrali. I mercati sono molto fiduciosi che la BCE abbasserà i tassi a giugno. Durante l'ultima riunione del comitato, la BCE ha effettivamente tenuto aperta la porta a una riduzione dei tassi in giugno. Tuttavia, Christine Lagarde ha ribadito il suo invito alla pazienza in materia di politica monetaria. La BCE rimane cauta sul ritmo della disinflazione, in particolare nel settore dei servizi, e continuerà a monitorare l'andamento del mercato del lavoro, che ha mostrato una grande capacità di recupero. D'altra parte, i mercati sono meno sicuri che la Fed ridurrà i tassi in giugno. La Fed non ha fretta di ridurre i tassi. Ritiene che la crescita economica sottostante abbia maggiori probabilità di rimbalzo e sia più forte di quella di dicembre. La retorica della Fed non è cambiata, nonostante la recente accelerazione dell'inflazione. Continua ad affermare che "l'inflazione sta gradualmente scendendo su un percorso a volte accidentato verso il 2%".

Azioni

Gli asset rischiosi hanno iniziato l'anno in positivo. Gli investitori hanno creduto allo scenario di "atterraggio morbido", facendo salire i mercati azionari. Inoltre, i buoni risultati aziendali trimestrali hanno sostenuto i mercati azionari in questo trimestre. L'effetto domino ha fatto sì che i titoli globali ne abbiano beneficiato: l'MSCI ACWI è salito del 9.1%. Gli Stati Uniti sono cresciuti del 10% ed hanno superato l'Europa, che ha registrato un incremento del 7.6%. I mercati dell'Eurozona stanno registrando un andamento migliore, con un aumento del 9.9%, e con i Paesi Bassi (+17.9%) e l'Italia (+15.7%) come principali artefici. Al di fuori dell'eurozona, il mercato del Regno Unito sta registrando un andamento meno positivo in questo trimestre, con un aumento di appena il 2.9%. Rimanendo sui mercati sviluppati, il mercato giapponese si è distinto in questo trimestre con un aumento del 18.3%. L'indice MSCI dei mercati emergenti è progredito (+4.0%) grazie alla sovraperformance del mercato taiwanese, salito del 16.9%. A livello settoriale europeo, i cosiddetti titoli ciclici (+10.4%) prevalgono su quelli difensivi (+2.9%). A guidarli sono stati la tecnologia (+17.9%), i beni di consumo ciclici (+12.3%) e il settore assicurativo (+11.9%). I settori dei servizi di pubblica utilità (-5.6%) e immobiliari (-1.4%) sono stati i principali responsabili dell'andamento negativo del trimestre. In Europa i titoli growth (+10.7%) stanno superando i titoli value (+4.4%).

■ Secondo trimestre 2024

I dati economici hanno evidenziato tendenze divergenti su entrambe le sponde dell'Atlantico. Negli Stati Uniti l'attività sta rallentando leggermente rispetto alla dinamica precedentemente vigorosa e l'inflazione ha ripreso la sua tendenza al ribasso. Nell'Eurozona il clima imprenditoriale sta migliorando dopo diversi trimestri difficili e l'inflazione ha registrato una modesta accelerazione dopo diversi mesi in calo. La BCE ha dato il via a una prima riduzione dei tassi il 6 giugno, mentre la Fed non ha rilasciato alcuna dichiarazione precisa sulla data della sua prima mossa. Sui mercati, le obbligazioni hanno registrato una performance negativa e rimangono volatili, soprattutto in Europa, mentre le azioni continuano a salire.

Stati Uniti

Dopo diversi trimestri caratterizzati da una buona tenuta, l'economia statunitense ha iniziato a mostrare segni di debolezza nel secondo trimestre. Nonostante i dati statunitensi abbiano continuato a dimostrare la forza dell'attività (l'indice ISM manifatturiero è tornato in terreno positivo per la prima volta dal novembre 2022 e le vendite al dettaglio sono aumentate), i primi segnali di debolezza sono arrivati con una crescita del PIL del primo trimestre inferiore alle aspettative. Gli indicatori statunitensi pubblicati a maggio hanno segnalato per lo più un moderato rallentamento dell'attività, con gli indici ISM che sono tornati a registrare una leggera contrazione nell'industria. Questa tendenza è stata confermata a giugno. Il messaggio è stato diverso nei servizi, dove le prospettive sono migliorate. Anche il mercato del lavoro è stato contraddittorio, con buoni progressi nella creazione di posti di lavoro, anche se il tasso di disoccupazione è salito al 4%. La flessione delle prospettive per il consumo è stata tuttavia confermata dalle deludenti vendite al dettaglio, che hanno lasciato presagire una debole crescita nel secondo trimestre.

La tendenza al ribasso dell'inflazione sembra essersi arrestata all'inizio del trimestre. Alla fine è stato confermato con l'inflazione PCE (la misura preferita dalla Federal Reserve) attestata su un tasso annualizzato del 2.6%. Tuttavia, le pressioni inflazionistiche si sono limitate ai servizi. In questo contesto la Federal Reserve si è astenuta dall'annunciare un calendario per i tagli dei tassi, indicando che prima ha bisogno di ulteriori segnali di disinflazione. I funzionari della Fed hanno alzato leggermente le previsioni di inflazione per il 2024 e hanno spostato la sequenza dei tagli dei tassi di riferimento nel tempo, senza peraltro modificare il valore complessivo di -250 punti base entro fine 2026. Alla fine di giugno, diversi governatori della Fed sembravano riluttanti a sostenere un taglio dei tassi prima di fine anno.

Europee

Il miglioramento della situazione economica europea è stata la bella sorpresa del secondo trimestre. Sebbene ancora deboli in termini assoluti, i dati dell'Eurozona hanno chiaramente sorpreso positivamente in aprile rispetto alle aspettative molto pessimistiche. Così i principali indicatori del clima economico (Sentix, ZEW e PMI) hanno segnalato nel complesso un leggero miglioramento dell'attività, nonostante una situazione che rimane erosa nel settore manifatturiero. Giugno ha confermato una leggera ripresa delle economie con notevoli segnali di miglioramento, facendo presagire una moderata espansione nel secondo trimestre.

Anche se la tendenza generale dell'inflazione nell'Eurozona è al ribasso, la stessa si mantiene inalterata nelle attività di servizio, che ne rappresentano il principale motore. Le statistiche sull'inflazione di maggio indicano un aumento al 2.6% su base annua, rispetto al 2.4% di aprile, per poi scendere nuovamente al 2.5% di giugno su base annua. Ciò è dovuto principalmente all'inflazione nei servizi, che si prevede diminuirà solo gradualmente. Il tasso annuo di inflazione di base, che esclude i prezzi volatili di alimenti ed energia, ha raggiunto il 2.7% in aprile e il 2.9% in giugno, al di sopra delle aspettative del mercato. Tra le principali economie, l'inflazione (armonizzata a livello UE) è diminuita in Germania (2.5%), Francia (2.5%) e Spagna (3.5%), mentre è aumentata in Italia (0.9%).

Nonostante un contesto di inflazione volatile e di ripresa dell'attività economica, il 6 giugno la BCE ha ridotto i tassi di riferimento di 25 punti base per la prima volta in quasi cinque anni, tagliando il tasso sui depositi dal 4% al 3.75%, in linea con le aspettative del mercato. Christine Lagarde, tuttavia, non si è espressa su futuri tagli dei tassi. La temporanea divergenza tra la Fed e la BCE ha avuto un effetto limitato sull'euro, che è sceso da 1.09 a 1.07 rispetto al dollaro USA. Sebbene l'inflazione sia tornata al 2% nel Regno Unito, la Banca d'Inghilterra ha mantenuto i tassi al 5.25% prima delle elezioni del Regno Unito del 4 giugno, evidenziando l'incertezza sul suo andamento nel breve termine.

Asia

In Giappone i dati sull'inflazione di maggio sono stati inferiori rispetto alle aspettative del consenso e le statistiche sulla crescita del primo trimestre sono state riviste al ribasso. L'inflazione (esclusi energia e prodotti freschi) si è attestata sul 2.1% su base annua, inferiore al 2.2% previsto. Il ritorno dell'inflazione all'obiettivo della Banca del Giappone (BoJ) è stato leggermente più rapido del previsto. Il mercato prevede logicamente che la BoJ mantenga i tassi d'interesse a breve termine, portando ad un ulteriore calo dello yen (l'USD/JPY ha sfondato quota 160 alla fine del trimestre).

La Cina rimane nella morsa di un mercato immobiliare che non riesce a stabilizzarsi, con un continuo calo dei volumi e dei prezzi. Le ultime misure annunciate dal governo cinese fanno pensare a un'inversione di tendenza, che da diversi trimestri pesa sui consumi e sull'occupazione. Passando da misure tecniche a basso impatto a politiche più coinvolgenti nei confronti del settore delle costruzioni, le autorità cinesi intendono confermare la loro volontà di raggiungere l'obiettivo di crescita del 5% quest'anno. In un contesto geopolitico teso, la Cina è accusata dai suoi partner commerciali di concorrenza sleale in molti settori, il che ha portato a un aumento delle tariffe doganali statunitensi e a una mossa potenzialmente simile da parte dell'UE. Ma il rischio più significativo rimane comunque la debolezza della domanda interna, confermata dagli indicatori PMI di giugno.

Mercati Emergenti

Benché l'inflazione sembri generalmente sotto controllo nelle economie emergenti, tutti gli occhi sono puntati sulla Federal Reserve, che dovrebbe tagliare i tassi solo nella seconda metà del 2024, e che, a sua volta, determina le mosse delle banche centrali delle economie emergenti. Tra le banche centrali che hanno mantenuto i loro tassi invariati figurano la Malesia, il Messico, la Reserve Bank del Sudafrica (SARB), la Banca Nazionale di Polonia (NB) e la Banca Centrale Turca (TCMB), mentre la Banca Nazionale Ceca (CNB) e la Banca Nazionale d'Ungheria (NBH) hanno ridotto i loro tassi di 50 punti base, la Banca Centrale di Bulgaria (BCB) e la Banca Centrale del Perù (BCRP) di 25 punti base. La Banca Popolare Cinese è ancora vincolata dalla sua preferenza per la stabilità valutaria e continua a mantenere i tassi costanti.

Il 4 giugno l'India ha annunciato i risultati delle proprie elezioni nazionali. L'Alleanza nazionale democratica, guidata dal Bharatiya Janta Party (BJP), è stata rieletta con una maggioranza molto risicata. Ciononostante, Modi ha ottenuto il sostegno dei suoi alleati nella coalizione che gli ha permesso di formare un governo per la terza volta consecutiva. Dopo la buona performance dei titoli indiani per diversi trimestri, gli investitori saranno sensibili ai progressi delle ambiziose riforme economiche e delle finanze pubbliche.

Indici

I mercati obbligazionari rimangono volatili, a seguito dell'arresto del calo dell'inflazione nelle economie avanzate, dell'assenza di un atterraggio per l'economia statunitense ma di un'accelerazione nelle economie europee. Il rendimento delle obbligazioni decennali statunitensi si avvicina al 4.5%, mentre i tassi a 2 anni restano intorno al 5%. In Europa il rendimento dei titoli decennali tedeschi ha superato il 2.6% e il 3% per l'OAT. I differenziali dei tassi tra i principali emittenti sovrani europei sono rimasti stabili, ma notiamo un andamento sfavorevole per la Francia dopo il declassamento del rating da parte di Standard & Poor's e l'annuncio dello scioglimento dell'assemblea nazionale in seguito alla sconfitta del movimento presidenziale alle elezioni europee.

Dall'inizio dell'anno, con l'inflazione statunitense che si è dimostrata più ostinata del previsto, la retorica della Federal Reserve statunitense è ora quella di "non avere fretta di abbassare i tassi". Ciò è stato fonte di volatilità sui mercati obbligazionari. In Europa, viceversa, l'inflazione sembra essere più o meno sotto controllo e la BCE ha avviato un primo taglio dei tassi. L'andamento dei mercati del credito è positivo grazie alla tenuta dell'attività economica, alla solidità dei bilanci e all'aspettativa di tagli dei tassi da parte delle banche centrali.

Azioni

Nonostante una temporanea correzione in aprile a seguito della pubblicazione dei dati sull'inflazione negli Stati Uniti, che molti temevano avrebbero portato a un nuovo rialzo dei tassi della Fed, i mercati azionari sono rimbalzati nel corso del trimestre grazie alla pubblicazione di risultati rassicuranti per il primo trimestre.

L'indice MSCI World è salito del 2.6% con performance regionali estremamente contrastanti. Il mercato statunitense è salito del 4.1%, superando nettamente l'Europa (+1.65%) e il Giappone (-2.5%) in termini di dollari. Il mercato francese ha risentito del contesto politico nazionale, con un calo di circa il 6% a giugno.

L'indice S&P500 (TR) è cresciuto del 4.3% nel secondo trimestre e del 3.6% nel solo mese di giugno. Il trimestre non è iniziato bene, con una flessione in aprile, quando una serie di rapporti sull'inflazione più alta del previsto ha fatto salire i tassi di interesse e alimentato i timori di un nuovo incremento dei tassi da parte della Fed. Le preoccupazioni sull'inflazione si sono poi dissolte e il mercato azionario ha raggiunto nuovi massimi.

Notiamo un cambiamento nella dinamica dei mercati azionari, con una minore concentrazione nei titoli statunitensi di grandi dimensioni (magnifico 7) e una sovraperformance in Europa in alcune fasi, con gli investitori alla ricerca di settori o regioni meno costosi degli Stati Uniti. Tuttavia, l'incertezza politica in Francia, seguita dallo scioglimento dell'assemblea nazionale, ha portato gli investitori extraeuropei a ritirarsi. Ma la grande sorpresa è il rimbalzo del mercato cinese (+5.4%) dopo gli annunci del governo di un maggiore sostegno al settore immobiliare e nonostante le prese di profitto di giugno. Nonostante l'aumento dei tassi a lungo termine, i titoli growth continuano a sovraperformare significativamente il segmento value, anche se notiamo un rinnovato interesse per i settori a sconto e il rimbalzo dei titoli bancari europei nella prima parte del trimestre.

2 PRINCIPALI POLITICHE CONTABILI

■ PRESENTAZIONE DEI RENDICONTI FINANZIARI

I bilanci del Fondo sono stati preparati in conformità ai requisiti normativi vigenti in Lussemburgo sugli Organismi d'investimento collettivo.

Questi sono presentati sulla base dell'ultimo NAV (Valore Netto d'Inventario) calcolato durante il periodo finanziario. In conformità al prospetto di aprile 2024 al supplemento del prospetto di maggio 2024, i NAV sono stati calcolati utilizzando i più recenti dati di mercato e tassi di cambio noti al momento del calcolo, ovvero:

- Per quanto riguarda il Comparto (ad eccezione di Amundi Funds Equity MENA): NAV ufficiale del 28 giugno 2024;

- Per Amundi Funds Equity MENA: NAV ufficiale del 27 giugno 2024.

Nella relazione annuale al 30 giugno 2024, i Comparti che durante tale anno sono stati oggetto di fusioni o liquidazioni sono indicati separatamente nella Dichiarazione di operazioni e modifiche agli attivi netti e sono stati inclusi nei dati consolidati.

I rendiconti finanziari del Fondo e di ciascuno dei suoi Comparti sono stati redatti applicando il presupposto della continuità aziendale, ad eccezione dal comparto Global Macro Bonds & Currencies Low Vol.

L'obiettivo di Amundi Funds Protect 90 è quello di fornire una partecipazione all'evoluzione dei mercati finanziari, fornendo allo stesso tempo una protezione parziale permanente del vostro investimento su un determinato periodo di 3 anni. In particolare, il Comparto mira a garantire che il prezzo delle azioni non scenda al di sotto del 90% del valore patrimoniale netto più elevato raggiunto dall'ultimo giorno lavorativo del precedente mese di aprile, come da prospetto informativo.

■ Investimenti incrociati tra i compartimenti - Al 30 giugno 2024, il valore degli investimenti effettuati dai Comparti in altri Comparti della SICAV ammonta a EUR 809,545,087.52 corrispondenti al 1.06% del valore patrimoniale netto totale. Pertanto, il NAV totale complessivo a fine anno, senza detti investimenti incrociati, sarebbe pari a EUR 75,735,141,619.48.

■ Portafoglio titoli - I titoli trasferibili quotati in una Borsa valori o mercato regolato sono valutati in base all'ultimo prezzo noto. Laddove questi prezzi non siano rappresentativi o i titoli non siano elencati, questi sono valutati al proprio valore probabile di vendita, stabilito con attenzione e in buona fede dal Consiglio di Amministrazione.

■ Conversione di voci espresse in valute estere - I bilanci del Fondo sono espressi in Euro (EUR). Gli attivi netti di ciascun Comparto espressi in valute estere sono pertanto convertiti e consolidati in EUR in base al tasso di cambio in vigore alla chiusura dell'anno finanziario.

I costi delle transazioni e delle acquisizioni per i titoli del portfolio espressi in valute estere sono convertiti nella valuta di riferimento del Comparto in questione, in base al tasso di cambio in vigore nella data della transazione o acquisizione, a seconda dei casi. I valori relativi alla valutazione dei titoli del portfolio e degli altri attivi e passivi espressi in valute straniere sono convertiti nella valuta di riferimento del Comparto, in base al tasso di cambio in vigore alla chiusura del periodo finanziario. Le differenze valutarie risultanti da tali conversioni sono registrate alla voce "Rivalutazione del patrimonio netto consolidato" nel Conto economico e variazioni del patrimonio netto.

■ Rendimento sugli investimenti - I dividendi sono riportati come rendimenti nella data in cui sono dichiarati e nella misura in cui è possibile ottenere le informazioni appropriate dal Fondo. Gli interessi sono riportati su base giornaliera.

■ Distribuzione dei costi e delle spese - A ciascun Comparto spettano i costi e le spese ad esso attribuibili. Costi e spese non attribuibili ad un Comparto specifico sono distribuiti tra i Comparti in modo equo, in proporzione ai rispettivi attivi netti.

■ Pronti contro termine - I pronti contro termine (Repo) equivalgono a prestiti garantiti da attivi sottostanti presentati nel portfolio titoli del Comparto che rimane esposto al rischio di mercato. I pronti contro termine inversi (Repo inversi) sono simili a prestiti garantiti. In questo caso, il Comparto non è soggetto al rischio di deprezzamento del valore degli attivi sottostanti. Repo e Repo inversi sono considerati rispettivamente prestiti ottenuti e concessi della somma dei beni liquidi ricevuta e/o pagata.

■ Contratti future - I contratti future non scaduti sono valutati all'ultimo prezzo noto alla data della valutazione o alla data di chiusura, e gli apprezzamenti non realizzati o i deprezzamenti da essi risultanti sono riportati nella Dichiarazione degli attivi netti. La variazione netta realizzata e la variazione netta delle plusvalenze/(minusvalenze) non realizzate su contratti future sono registrate nel Prospetto delle Operazioni e Variazioni del Patrimonio Netto.

■ Contratti di Futures-style options - I contratti di Future-style options sono valutati al prezzo quotato disponibile su una borsa ufficiale. I depositi di margine iniziali sono pagati in contanti alla stipula di contratti. I successivi flussi di cassa positivi o negativi, denominati margini di variazione, sono pagati o ricevuti dal Comparto periodicamente e sono basati sulle variazioni del valore di mercato dei contratti di future-style options. Alla chiusura del contratto, il Comparto di riferimento registra un utile o una perdita realizzato/a pari alla differenza tra i proventi (o il costo) della transazione di chiusura e la transazione di apertura. Gli apprezzamenti o deprezzamenti netti non realizzati su contratti future-style options sono registrati nel Prospetto del Patrimonio Netto. La variazione netta realizzata e la variazione netta delle plusvalenze/(minusvalenze) non realizzate su contratti future-style options sono registrate nel Prospetto delle Operazioni e Variazioni del Patrimonio Netto.

■ Contratti forward in valuta estera - I contratti forward in valuta estera non scaduti sono valutati sulla base dei tassi di cambio applicabili alla data della valutazione o alla data di chiusura, e gli apprezzamenti non realizzati o i deprezzamenti da essi risultanti sono riportati nella Dichiarazione degli attivi netti. La variazione netta realizzata e la variazione netta delle plusvalenze/(minusvalenze) non realizzate su contratti future sono registrate nel Prospetto delle Operazioni e Variazioni del Patrimonio Netto.

■ Valorizzazione delle opzioni e swaption - Le opzioni quotate ufficialmente in una borsa valori o in un altro mercato regolato, che operano in maniera regolare e che sono riconosciute ed aperte al pubblico, sono valutate sulla base del prezzo di chiusura nel giorno della valutazione o, in assenza di tali prezzi, sulla base dell'ultimo prezzo noto disponibile. Le opzioni OTC, comprese le swaption, sono valutate al prezzo corrente di mercato in base agli elementi stabiliti nei loro contratti. Nel caso in cui l'ultimo prezzo per le opzioni quotate o il prezzo calcolato per le opzioni OTC non sia rappresentativo, la valorizzazione sarà basata sul prezzo di realizzazione stimato dal Consiglio di Amministrazione della SICAV con attenzione e in buona fede. La variazione netta realizzata e la variazione netta delle plusvalenze/(minusvalenze) non realizzate su opzioni e swaption OTC sono registrate nel "Prospetto delle Operazioni e Variazioni del Patrimonio Netto".

■ Swap - Il Fondo è autorizzato a sottoscrivere contratti variance swap, credit default swap, total return swap, inflation swap, asset swap, swap sui tassi di interesse o swap in valuta. Tali swap sono contabilizzati al valore di mercato sulla base degli elementi di valutazione previsti dai contratti. L'utile netto non realizzato è ascrivito sotto la voce "Plusvalenza netta non realizzata su swaps e CFD" della Dichiarazione degli attivi netti, mentre la perdita netta non realizzata è ascrivita sotto la voce "Minusvalenza netta non realizzata su swaps e CFD" della Dichiarazione degli attivi netti. La variazione netta realizzata e la variazione netta delle plusvalenze/(minusvalenze) non realizzate sugli swap sono registrate nel Prospetto delle Operazioni e Variazioni del Patrimonio Netto.

■ Strumenti del mercato monetario - Il mercato monetario è uno strumento con liquidità elevata e scadenze molto brevi. Viene utilizzato dai partecipanti come mezzo per ricevere a prestito e dare a prestito nel breve termine, con scadenze che normalmente vanno da un giorno all'altro (overnight) a poco meno di un anno. Per gli strumenti del mercato monetario, l'accrescimento (differenza tra il costo e il valore ammortizzato) è ascrivito sotto la voce "Variazione della plusvalenza/(minusvalenza) sugli investimenti sui debiti derivati da pronti contro termine inversi" nella dichiarazione di operazioni e modifiche agli attivi netti per i titoli detenuti anno. Qualora gli strumenti siano stati venduti o rimborsati, questo risultato si considera come "Utile/ (perdita) netto/ (netta) realizzato/ (realizzata) sui titoli venduti" nella dichiarazione di operazioni e modifiche agli attivi netti.

■ To Be Announced securities (TBA) - Le posizioni TBA si riferiscono alla pratica commerciale comune nel mercato dei titoli garantiti da mutui ipotecari in cui un titolo deve essere acquistato da un pool di attivi ipotecari (ad esempio Ginnie Mae, Fannie Mae o Freddie Mac) ad un prezzo fisso in una data futura. Al momento dell'acquisto il titolo preciso non è noto, ma ne vengono specificate le principali caratteristiche. Nonostante il prezzo sia stato stabilito al momento dell'acquisto, il valore nominale non è stato perfezionato. Le posizioni TBA sono registrate nel Portafoglio Titoli. L'acquisto di questo tipo di titoli non è stato regolato e, pertanto, l'importo corrispondente al debito quando l'operazione è regolata, è indicato nella voce "Debiti verso Broker" dello Stato Patrimoniale. Gli utili/(perdite) realizzati(e) sui TBA e le variazioni nell'apprezzamento/deprezzamento non realizzato sono indicati(e) nella Dichiarazione di Operazioni e Modifiche negli Attivi Netti.

rispettivamente nelle voci "Utile/ (perdita) netto/ (netta) realizzato/ (realizzata) sui titoli venduti" e "Variazione della plusvalenza/(minusvalenza) sugli investimenti e sui debiti derivati da pronti contro termine inversi". Rischio MBS/ABS. Titoli garantiti da mutui ipotecari e titoli garantiti da attività (MBS e ABS) in genere comportano un rischio di pagamento anticipato e di estensione e possono comportare rischi di liquidità, credito e tasso di interesse superiori alla media.

- Utile/ (perdita) netto/ (netta) realizzato/ (realizzata) sui titoli venduti - La voce "Utile/ (perdita) netto/ (netta) realizzato/ (realizzata) sui titoli venduti" della Dichiarazione di Operazioni e Modifiche negli Attivi Netti riflette la differenza tra costi e profitti derivanti dai titoli venduti, compresa l'influenza del mercato e della valuta.
- Costi di transazione - I costi di transazione includono le commissioni di mediazione e le commissioni addebitate dalla banca depositaria relativamente alle transazioni di titoli e derivati. Le commissioni di transazione sono escluse dal costo di titoli e derivati acquistati e venduti. Tutte queste commissioni sono imputate alla voce "Commissioni di mediazione e di transazione" sulla Dichiarazione di operazioni e modifiche agli attivi netti. Vedi nota 23, nella quale si descrivono le commissioni di ricezione e di trasmissione di ordini.
- Contratti per differenza (CFD) - Ad ogni data di valutazione, la differenza di prezzo tra il prezzo di apertura e l'attuale prezzo di mercato del titolo o dell'indice sottostante rispetto al CFD viene registrata come valore di mercato (utile o perdita non realizzata) del contratto; quando il Comparto effettua un'operazione di chiusura, la differenza tra l'importo nozionale di apertura e l'importo nozionale di chiusura del titolo sottostante viene registrato come utili o perdite nelle voci Utile/(perdita) netto realizzato su swap e CFD nel Conto economico e Variazioni del patrimonio netto. I depositi di margine iniziali possono essere effettuati in contanti al momento della stipula del CFD. I pagamenti successivi, denominati margini di variazione, sono effettuati o ricevuti dal Comparto periodicamente e sono basati sulle variazioni del valore di mercato dei contratti CFD aperti.
- Prestito Titoli - Nelle operazioni di prestito e prestito titoli, un prestatore trasferisce titoli o strumenti a un mutuatario, soggetto all'impegno che il mutuatario restituirà titoli o strumenti equivalenti in una data futura o quando richiesto dal prestatore. Il mutuatario deve fornire una garanzia, sotto forma di garanzia reale, che si estende per tutta la durata del prestito ed è almeno pari alla valutazione globale dei titoli prestati, maggiorato del valore dell'eventuale scarto di garanzia ritenuto congruo alla luce della qualità della garanzia.

5 COMMISSIONI DI PERFORMANCE

La commissione di performance si calcola separatamente per ciascuna Classe di Azioni. Tale commissione verrà maturata giornalmente, detratta e corrisposta annualmente per ciascuna Classe di Azioni. La commissione di performance si calcola confrontando il NAV della pertinente Classe di Azioni del Comparto e l'asset di riferimento.

Il meccanismo applicato è ulteriormente dettagliato nel sito www.amundi.lu/Amundi-Funds.

I Comparti e le Classi di Azioni soggette a una commissione di performance sono elencati sul sito www.amundi.lu/Amundi-Funds.

Per tutte le classi autorizzate a Hong Kong si prega di notare che non vengono applicate commissioni di performance.
